

FLORENCE, ITALY

Favorites

Notes

Boboli Gardens

Indisputably, one of my favorite spots to wander in Florence, no matter the time of year.

Ditta Artigianale

Yes, Italy is famous for its coffee culture but this "mini chain" is setting a new standard in merging the traditional and the modern.

Todo Modo Bookstore

My favorite bookstore in the city - great English and children's book selection too, as well as a quaint coffee and wine bar inside.

1865 Historical Residence

You will find true Italian hospitality in this slick and chic bed and breakfast in a lovely residential quarter of town.

Acquacotta

A true trattoria in every sense of the word - if you are one of the few non-locals there one night, you'll feel local by the end of your meal of boar ragu, homemade pasta, and tiramisu.

Gelateria Edoardo

I could make a guide of just gelato spots in Florence (email me for lots more!), but this all-natural spot is always a hit with daily seasonal flavors like fig and torta della nonna.
